Addison Pierce is convinced that her future is predetermined based on a few bad choices from her past. Her parents don’t take her seriously and neither does her long distance, maybe/maybe not, boyfriend. The only thing she has going for her these days is her art work and her take no prisoners attitude. So when her parents pack up the station wagon and head for Phoenix, Arizona, Addison thinks up a plan to run away from home on her eighteenth birthday. Caleb Sullivan is a well-mannered, high school, All-American basketball star. He’s dating the hottest girl in school, has college scholarships practically falling in his lap and has the entire school eating out of the palm of his hand. So when his little sister makes friends with the new girl from next door Caleb thinks she’s some kind of Wednesday Adams look alike but the more time he spends with her the more he can’t stop thinking about her. When two people, who have nothing in common. Have everything to learn from each other. Will they be able to put their differences aside or will a few bad drug deals and an dangerous ex-boyfriend be too much to handle.
